JOINING NAVY PARROT SIGN

That there is no more effective manner in which the young men can show their love for their country than by joining the navy, is the avowed and earnest opinion of Chief Carpenter Saunders, U. S. N., in charge of the local recruiting depot.

The navy is the first line of defense. Approximately 25,000 men are needed. These men must be trained, which takes months of drilling. They must be taught the ways of the sea, for there is no merchant marine to draw from, and they must be taught military discipline as well as the duties of the naval profession. All this takes time, a vital factor in the present crisis.

For 140 years the United States navy has an unbroken record of honorable achievement. At every critical period of the country's history it has played an important and often most glorious part. The navy has always been a service of high ideals, and the lofty standard exists. It is an axiom from Paul Jones to Dewey is zealously maintained by officers and men today. The American people have placed implicit confidence in their navy, and have a justifiable pride in its accomplishments. No more patriotic service can therefore be rendered than to help make the navy what is required in size.

Recruits for the United States navy enlist for a term of four years, excepting minors under 18 who contract with the consent of their parents or guardians to serve until they reach majority.

The pay is excellent when it is remembered that practically all living expenses are borne by the government. The vocational training in the navy is unequalled in any civil employment, over fifty trades being utilized on board a man of war, most of which are taught wholly or partly in naval trade schools. It is an axiom that "no man leaves the service without being far better equipped to earn his living than he was before he enlisted."

After serving an enlistment creditably the sailor is awarded an honorable discharge, a testimonial of fidelity and obedience, which is the highest recommendation he can receive. It entitles him to a bounty of four months' pay and additional monthly money if he reenlists within four months, or it entitles him to enroll in the fleet naval reserve at an annual pay ranging from $50 to $124 with increases every four years. If he elects to make the navy a life career, there are many rewards open to him for the striving. One hundred appointments to the Naval Academy are made each year. Promotion is gradual for the deserving man through the various grades of the service, rank and later to a commission. The navy is in brief a lucrative calling, an honorable profession, and should appeal particularly at this time to all loyal young men.

CLAIMS GRAND CANYON CLAIM

What Ralph Cameron considers a mining claim, situated on the brink of the Grand Canyon, where the Angel trail starts from El Tovar to the river below, is the bone of contention in a case argued on appeal in the supreme court Saturday.

The suit is against W. W. Bass. Bass has a lease to the supposed mining claim from the forestry department and Cameron wishes him to get off. He will not, Cameron some time ago, according to the papers in the case, applied for a patent but the government refused it on the ground that there was no mineral on the claim. Cameron also holds other property along the Angel trail as mining claims, but the government has never issued patent.

RED CROSS TO MAP OUT PLANS FOR WOMEN DRIVERS ASK EFFICIENCY

The local chapter of the American Red Cross has received instructions from Washington outlining the particular articles needed at once by the national organization.

It is expected that this morning an exhibit will arrive from San Francisco, including patterns and samples of all the articles required.

Hugh Marshall, chairman of the local chapter, has called a meeting for this afternoon, when all plans will be outlined, and work actually commenced.

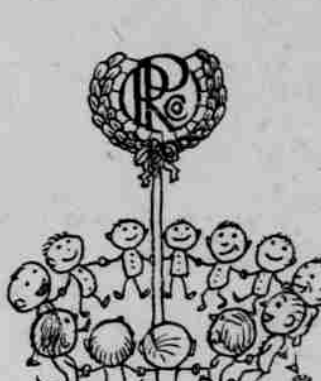

The meeting will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

AJO MINERS BUY MINING STOCKS

AJO, March 25.—Glowing reports are coming in from the various properties all around Ajo. New strikes, and finds, and richer indications of ore are being made almost daily. A significant fact is that the miners in the various workings of this district are almost without exception, large stockholders in the companies for which they are working. This is one of the things that lend observers of mining world to believe that a tremendous future exists for this camp.

J. D. Elliott, secretary of the Ajo Cornelia Copper company reports that the hole let at the diamond drilling of his property. It is not made public to whom the contract has been let, but the drill will probably start in 30 days according to authentic sources. The first hole will be put in about 200 feet from the double compartment shaft which has already gone down a depth of over 50 feet. According to the present plans of the company, but one drill will be used to start with, and later it is probable that others will be put to work. It is said that the Ajo Cornelia has one of the brightest prospects in this district. With an admirable located property, is combined an efficient and experienced administration, and the work at the mine is going forward rapidly, and satisfactorily.

RENTAL MONEY APPORTIONED DEPARTMENTS

The board of control has apportioned some of the money received from the state lands in rentals and interests, $630 going to the state industrial school and $285 for the care of the deaf, dumb and blind.

The board of control has appointed S. B. Shumway as foreman to look after the work of finishing the female ward at the state insane hospital. The work will begin Monday.

Liability insurance has been placed on the elevator in the capital building by the board of control. The elevator was inspected and found to be modern and equipped with the latest devices. The insurance is for the protection of the general public. The board decided not to take out any liability insurance on road work. The board figured that the size of the payroll was such that the state could carry the liability cheaper than by letting an insurance do it.

With the increasing number of women who drive cars, comes the need—

A cake without butter!
(Report No. 1) By a man who saw it done

They told me that wholesome Cottolene made delicious cakes. To make sure, I had Katie make this cake. I looked on.

At the start, Katie was very doubtful. She said, "You've got to use butter for cake." I said, "No, you haven't. Just one-third less of Cottolene than you would of butter. You wait and see." I wanted to show Katie and I was hoping for an A-number-one cake.

It kept its promise. When the layers were done Katie said, "My! See how light it is."

We waited 15 minutes for the cake to cool before testing its flavor.

When we did, Katie's doubts were removed.

sity for absolutely reliable and dependable electrical equipment. Starter and lights must not fail if military is to be saved the embarrassment and inconvenience of cranking or asking muscular assistance.

This is the opinion of Mr. Pafford of the Schweizer Machine company of this city, who are representatives of the Willard Storage Battery company.

In this connection the storage battery plays a leading role, and the Willard Storage Battery company emphasizes the importance of good battery service. Their plan includes a free inspection each month, when the battery is examined and filled with water, if necessary. It also affords ample instructions for personal battery care, so that a woman can make sure that she will experience no difficulties that can be traced to the batteries.

Car manufacturers and dealers recognize the value of this service and much praise is heard for the kind of cooperation that backs up the sale with help that is worth something.

On the same day, shortly after the completion of the rowing races, the Pacific Coast championship swimming tournament, including clubs representing the Hawaiian Islands, will be held. All members of the A. A. C., northern and coast associations will be eligible to enter the swimming events.

In addition to the two state championship events a field day will be celebrated which will include all manner of land and aquatic sports in which every visitor at the resort may participate. Open air concerts will be given by the famous Coronado Tent City band, and there will be dancing both afternoon and evening in the pavilion.

AGUA CALIENTE ROAD IS BETTER

County Engineer Harold Barkman returned yesterday from Agua Caliente and reports the county road leading to the famous health resort to be in the best shape of its history. Barkman made the trip in five hours at the rate of twenty miles an hour and declares he did not break the speed law at any time during the journey.

He made the trip by the upper road over the new state highway by the way of Fourth of July wash and the Yellow Medicine wash past the old Bill Cody Wells and found every foot of the county road in good shape.

While in that section Barkman, who never overlooks anything that has to do with the county roads, checked the line from Caliente to Palomas. Yuma has surveyed toward Palomas with view of building a road to the county line to adjoin that which Maricopa has already put in excellent condition.

The San Diego Rowing club is at present the title holder and northern
